JANUARY 26, 2012

OPENING:

President Ruthie welcomed members who recited the "Pledge of Allegiance" followed by the invocation presented by John Van Gilder.

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

P.E. Paul Brown introduced Jay Gruenebaum, guest of Jena Gruenebaum; Teanna Hrinko, guest of Ryan Schmidt; and Adam King, guest of Judy Ross.

President Ruthie thanked Bill Porter, Barb Gibbs, and her committee for their efforts to create a Rotaract group at Zane State and OUZ. Over forty students attended the organizational meeting. Members also joined Ruthie in congratulating Aaron and Angie Kaiser for a new addition to their family, Fini, their new little girl. Angie promised she would bring her back to a meeting soon to help in demonstrating the "Ring the Bell for Literacy" program.

Adam King, educator and youth pastor of New Hope Church, explained an exciting opportunity for the teens of the area and Zanesville itself. Adam is the coordinator for the "Restoration" weekend Christian assembly for teenagers. Last year, the event drew over 1000 teens. Attendees are entertained by Christian Rock bands, inspirational speakers, and breakout discussion groups. This year Adam has discovered Tim Tebow is available to speak. His task is to raise a large sum of money quickly. The goal is $50,000 and Adam has raised over $42,000. Tim donates his proceeds to a children's hospital in the Philippines. Thanks to our generous membership, Adam collected over $2,100 toward his goal. He is hopeful he will be able to complete the arrangements for Tim's appearance in Zanesville. Anyone still wishing to contribute can contact Adam at adam@weareextremefire.com or see Judy Ross for pledge sheets.

PROGRAM:

Cory Hamilton introduced Stacey Snider who has been serving the Muskingum County Literacy Council as president for three years. With Bard, the Literacy Bunny, adult and youth tutoring programs and their other projects, the group's goal is to eradicate illiteracy in Muskingum County. Currently eight people serve as volunteers. The Bard reads a story to children, then provides them with their own free book. The Council explains to parents and other family members the importance of reading to children. The Literacy Council receives support through United Way, a silent auction held at the mall, and group or individual contributions. Stacey is always looking for volunteers from the community who are interested in supporting this initiative with their time and donations. She may be contacted at 740-454-0105.

Cory then presented Stacey with the Rotary Vocational Recognition Award. The award is to recognize an individual or group who has gone above and beyond in their vocation or volunteer work in a way that exemplifies the "Reach Within to Embrace Humanity" Rotary Service theme this year. Stacey was presented a certificate and a donation for the organization. Cory then expressed her appreciation to Tom Heins and Allegra Marketing•Print•Mail for providing the certificate and thanked her committee.

SARGE:

Sarge, Mary Jane, welcomed Gary and Jeanette Moll's "little ones", Jonathan and Jackson, to the meeting. Scott Barr was eager to forward the "Poop Award" to Randy Bankes. Lucky Randy! M.J. tested our knowledge of our membership statistics. Did you know we have 4 insurance agents, 8 retired members, 5 accountants, 9 health care professionals, and 3 female past presidents? (Barb Gibbs was the first.)

50/50:

Mary Jane drew for the $373.50 in the pot, but, unfortunately, just got a plain, old penny.

CLOSING:

The meeting ended with members reciting the 4-Way Test.
